

What is the longest fiber optic cable line

Overview

Fibre-optic Link Around the Globe (FLAG) is a 28,000-kilometre-long (17,398 mi; 15,119 nmi) fibre optic mostly- submarine communications cable that connects the United Kingdom, Japan, India, and many places in between. The cable is operated by Global Cloud Xchange, a former subsidiary of RCOM. SEA-ME-WE3, which stands for South-East Asia - Middle East - Western Europe 3, is a submarine fiber-optic telecommunications cable that links these regions, even extending to Australia and Japan. What makes it truly special is its length: a staggering 39,000 kilometers (24,000 miles)! This figure. The worlds longest submarine telephone cable is FLAG (Fibre-optic Link Around the Globe), which runs for 27,000 km 16,800 miles from Japan to the United Kingdom. It links three continents (Europe, Africa and Asia) and 11 countries, and can support 600,000 simultaneous telephone calls. It is led by. Meta is building something massive — Project Waterworth, a subsea fiber-optic cable stretching 50,000 km across five continents. Scale: 24-fiber-pair capacity, far bigger than most existing cables.
